Joining The Guild of Metalsmiths?

Please introduce yourself. Each month we welcome new members to the Guild and offer them a chance to tell us a bit about themselves. (who you are, your goals as a metalsmith, the services you provide, products you make, etc.) Whatever you want to share is fine. So, give us a statement of interests/services up to 254 characters long (letters and spaces). This statement is also printed in the member directory (optional).

August Guild meeting returns to Olin's Mendota shop

The August meeting of the Guild of Metalsmiths will be held at Dave Olin's shop in Mendota on August 9. This meeting will feature a corn feed with the Guild providing all the sweetcorn you can eat. If you consider yourself a master corn shucker, come early and lend a hand--you'll gain lots of experience! We'll also enjoy our traditional traditional potluck dinner, so please bring a dish to pass.

The featured demonstrator for this event is Tom Latane'.

The potluck dinner and corn feed starts at 6:30, general business meeting starts at 7, and Tom's demonstration will begin after the end of the business meeting.

Guild educational grants

There is grant money available for Guild members to study intermediate and advanced metal-working techniques.

The Guild educational grant program is designed to bring new skills into the metalworking community. Participants are given money to pay for a portion of their expenses and are expected to learn some new or poorly understood skill, and then to share what they have learned with other members and the public through an article in our quarterly magazine, "The Metalsmith." They're also expected to lead a workshop on the topic (or other educational service approved by the board).

Application forms are available from the president or treasurer at a regular meeting, or by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to:

The Madness is coming!

So, have you marked your calendar yet for the Fall Madness – the Guild of Metalsmiths Fall Conference? The conference will be held this year September 15 through the 17 at the Little Log House Power Show grounds, located six miles south of Hastings on Highway 61.

Friday night is the Gallery setup. Bring your best works to show off all of the great stuff you have made. This is a non-juried show; all items registered will be included in the gallery. If you have items that you showed in the past, please bring them again, since there are always new members each year for which the items will be fresh. If you cannot make it Friday night, gallery registration is open on Saturday also.

Friday night is the opening of the tailgate area. If you need to buy or sell some equipment, the tailgate sales area is a great opportunity to exchange those hard-to-find smithin' tools. Sales are open all weekend, but the best deals usually go early.

Saturday is the main event, with registration starting at 7:30 AM and demonstrations starting at 9 AM. This year we have two wonderful demonstrators – Clay Spencer (a legend in the world of blacksmithing) will be demonstrating using his new Tire Hammer. Rauno Lehtonen is coming from Finland to demonstrate sculptural pieces.

In addition to the demonstrators, other family activities for the weekend include Found Art creation, Altoid Tin Repousse, broom making, door hanger creation, hoola hoop rugs, and magnetic art. All of the family activities will be free of charge this year. If that isn't enough to keep you busy, browse the silent auction area to pick up that piece of steel you need or the other doodad you can't live without. And if you have an extra chunk of steel or a thingamajig you don't need, consider donating it to the silent auction.

And let's not forget the highlight of the conference, the Saturday Night Live auction. This is a major event of the year and provides you an opportunity to pick up some wonderful items for either your shop or your living room wall.

Now you may expect an opportunity to experience all of this would cost lots of bucks. Well, we will take it if you want to give it to us, but all we ask is a measly $35 per family for the entire weekend or $20 per family for a single day of the conference. Camping is available on the grounds for no charge except for a nominal fee if you connect your camper to the electricity.

More information will be coming shortly in a flyer that will be sent to all members.

Join the crowd at the Fall Conference...

Altoid Tin Repousse class - family activity!

Tired of getting burned? Tired of lifting that heavy blacksmith's hammer? Come join Jesse Gavin and Jim Breczinski at the Altoids repousse family activity for some cold iron working at the Fall Conference both Saturday and Sunday mornings.

This still leaves you with time to enjoy the other activities and demonstrators. We have all the supplies and tools. All skill levels are welcome, and if you have never done Altoids repousse before we will help you the basics. Best of all it is a free activity and you get to take home the Altoids tin to show off what you made this year at the Fall Conference.

Location to be determined, so just follow the signs when you get there.

Letter to the editor

Many thanks to Myron Hanson for his recent article sharing the problem he had with his prostate. It prompted me to have my prostate checked. An elevated PSA was followed by a biopsy which indicated that I also had prostate cancer. So, in mid-August my prostate will also end up in dumpsterland.

Also, this is a good time to set the record straight on the candle holders that I brought to the Christmas Party for Show & Tell. They were all made by Bernard Heer.

2006 'Notable Mention Reference Book' is well known among Guild members

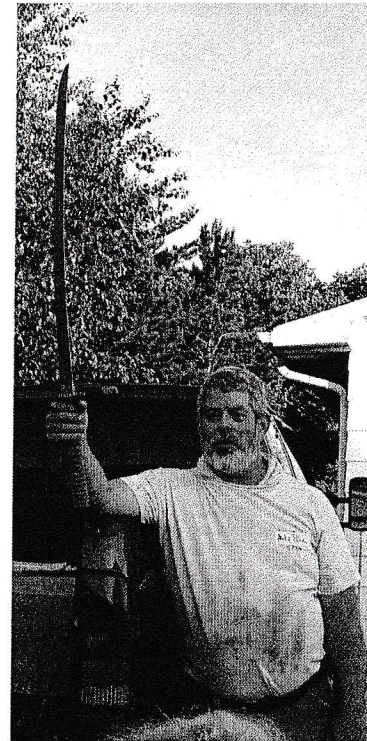

"A Blacksmithing Primer" by Randy McDaniel was considered a 2006 Notable Mention Reference Book according to "Writers Notes Magazine."

Hobar Publications, a division of Finney Company, released the second edition of "A Blacksmithing Primer" in January 2004. Virtually every task beginning and intermediate blacksmiths must master is represented in this excellent book. Over 400 detailed drawings help increase comprehension levels. This is a reference manual that will be found lying open on the workbench more often than found on the bookshelf.

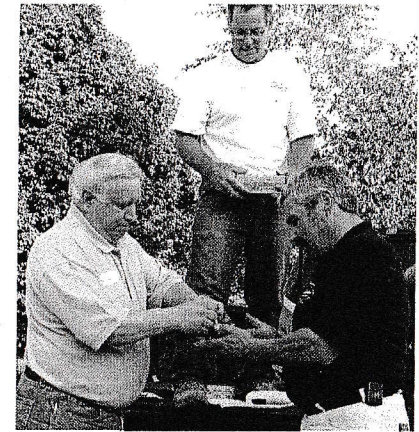

"Writers Notes Magazine" is an international literary magazine of stories, essays, poetry, interviews, and visual arts. Each year, "Writers Notes Book Awards" defines eleven categories of independent publishing excellence. Entries come from independent and small presses, self-published authors, and highly unique and short print runs.

The review on "A Blacksmithing Primer" reads, "While most of our readers won't be taking up the blacksmith trade anytime soon, they might want to take a whack at McDaniel's guide for the traditional metal forging trade."

Frequently asked questions on demonstrating

— by Rich Herman

We are entering the time of year when many opportunities are available to participate in a blacksmithing demonstration. If you have never participated in a demonstration event before, you may have lots of questions about how it all works. So here goes on my attempt to enlighten you.

What is the purpose of the demonstration event? The demonstration is an attempt to educate people that have never seen a blacksmith before. We answer questions and show the general public what we can do.

Do I have to be a good blacksmith to help at the demonstration? No, little or no experience is actually required to participate as a demonstrator. We always have some more experienced members there to answer the harder questions and to even provide a few tips to help you improve your skills. I have always learned from my opportunities to demonstrate.

What should I bring? Usually all you need to bring is your protective equipment (safety glasses, hearing protection, cotton clothing, leather shoes), a hammer, a few simple tools, and perhaps some steel (depending on what you are planning to make). It may be necessary to bring a lunch and some water, depending on what is provided for the demonstrators. Check with the coordinator before the event.

What do I do? This can vary depending on the event. You may participate in a large group project, you may assist one of the other demonstrators in a medium sized project, do a big project of your own, or do a bunch of small projects. It is usually a good idea to have several projects in mind and bring materials to do them. S hooks and steak turners are always good items to demonstrate.

How do I get involved? Each demonstration event has a coordinator, so contact that person and find out the exact details for that event.

What events are coming up?

- Minnesota Zoo John Deere Days, July 22-23 (Rich Herman 651-322-1623),
- The Little Log House Antique Power Show, July 28-30 (Dick Carlson 651-437-3329),

September puukko knife class at Cannon River Forge

Mike Blue will be hosting another trip to his Cannon River Forge by Kay Vikstrom from Finland. It is time to start scheduling classes for his visit.

Mike plans to have one class at his shop the weekend before the September conference, September 9 & 10. The purpose is two fold. It pays for Kay's trip here and allows him to attend the conference. Mike says, "He did that the first year he came to visit me and had the time of his life and would not miss the chance again. Plus his good friend, Rauno, is one of our featured demonstrators at the conference. Kay is an artist blacksmith in his own right. This allows us to have two blacksmiths from Finland for the price of one."

It should be a four day class like last year and include forging, heat treatment, handle, and leather. Price including materials will be $150.

There was interest by several other groups. Mike has a tool box that can travel between classes with some essential things, and Kay will bring some with him for sale. Any class coordinators please contact Mike at truthforger@hotmail.com

Mike says, "I believe that larger international contacts between the Guild of Metalsmiths or any Minnesota group makes us all better for it."

(This is a non-Guild sponsored event)
